

Directions for questions 1 to 8: In each question, there are five sentences or parts of sentences that form a paragraph. Identify the sentence(s) or part(s) of sentence(s) that is/are correct in terms of grammar and usage. Then, choose the most appropriate option.

- a. Being from a part of India, where winter is just another word in the dictionary, I had naively assumed that I was conditioned for hot summers.
- b. But after a few hours of driving on Route 93 in Nevada, I had to contritely accept that a 45-degree heat,
- c. without the cooling touch of humidity, was not my cup of tea.
- d. As I approached Ely, 250 miles north of Las Vegas I rued my decision to leave the air-conditioned comfort
- e. of cavernous casinos and venture to the high desert of Nevada.

☐ a) a, b and c

☒ b) b and c (Correct Answer - ✓)

☐ c) b, d and e

☐ d) b, c and d

Solution:

In a, the word "conditioned" should be followed by "to" and not "for". In d, the expression "250 miles north of Las Vegas" is a parenthetical expression which gives additional information it should be preceded and followed by commas. Hence, a comma should be inserted after "Las Vegas" in order to make the sentence grammatically correct. In e, the word "venture" should be followed by the preposition "into". Only b and c are grammatically correct.

Choice (B)

Directions for questions 1 to 8: In each question, there are five sentences or parts of sentences that form a paragraph. Identify the sentence(s) or part(s) of sentence(s) that is/are correct in terms of grammar and usage. Then, choose the most appropriate option.

- a. Philip II of Spain and Henry II of France signed the Treaty of Cateau-Cambrésis on 3 April 1559,
- b. putting a temporary end to almost six decades of conflict among their nations.
- c. The treaty recognised Spanish, and therefore Habsburg, dominance on Italy.
- d. The ensuing peace presented Philip with the opportunity to turn his armies towards other, less strictly European problems.
- e. As the Continent's only superpower, Spain was now able to concentrate on the long-standing question of who controlled the Mediterranean.

- ☐ a) a and b
- ☐ b) c, d and e
- ☐ c) b and c

☐ d) a, d and e (Correct Answer - ✓)

Solution:

In b, the use of the preposition "among" is incorrect. As the reference, here, is only to two nations, "between" is the correct preposition to be used. In c, the word "dominance" should be followed by "over" and not "on". Therefore, a, d and e are grammatically consistent.
Choice (D)

Directions for questions 1 to 8: In each question, there are five sentences or parts of sentences that form a paragraph. Identify the sentence(s) or part(s) of sentence(s) that is/are correct in terms of grammar and usage. Then, choose the most appropriate option.

- a. For more than a century, an army of scholars, enthusiasts and outright eccentrics have delved into the question of who discovered America.
- b. Some of the claims are truly exotic, with fanciful reportage on ancient Phoenicians in Rhode Island or Chinese from the Middle Kingdom in the Bay Area.
- c. Back in the 1950's the colourful Norwegian ethnographer and adventurer Thor Heyerdahl contended that Peruvians in sailboats made of balsa wood
- d. Were commuting back and forth between the Americas and Polynesia centuries before Columbus set sail.
- e. Leaving aside patently absurd theories, there are a number of serious claimants for the title.

☒ a) b, d and e (Correct Answer - ✓)

- ☐ b) c, d and e
- ☐ c) c and d
- ☐ d) b and c

Solution:

In a, the verb "have" does not agree with the singular subject "army". The correction is "...an army of scholars, enthusiasts and outright eccentrics has...". In c, the use of apostrophe with the figure "1950s" is incorrect. Hence a and c are erroneous and all the remaining statements are free of errors.
Choice (A)

Directions for questions 1 to 8: In each question, there are five sentences or parts of sentences that form a paragraph. Identify the sentence(s) or part(s) of sentence(s) that is/are correct in terms of grammar and usage. Then, choose the most appropriate option.

- a. In the popular imagination, early medieveal England was a wild place populated by packs of ravenous wolves, devouring people and livestock.
- b. The image is in odds with modern research into wolf biology
- c. and wolves were extinct in England by the time of Henry VII.
- d. With a programme of wolf reintroduction proposed for UK,
- e. it is time to look at the history of attitudes to wolves from when written accounts began, in the Anglo-Saxon period.

- ☐ a) a, b and c
- ☐ b) a, b and d
- ☐ c) a and c

☐ d) c and e (Correct Answer - ✓)

Solution:

In a, the word "medieval" is wrongly spelt. In b, the expression "in odds" is incorrect. The correction is "at odds". It is appropriate to say that something is at odds with (or in conflict or variance with) something. In d, "UK", which is an acronym for "United Kingdom" should be preceded by the definite article because it refers to a group of countries. Only c and e are grammatically correct. Choice (D)

Directions for questions 1 to 8: In each question, there are five sentences or parts of sentences that form a paragraph. Identify the sentence(s) or part(s) of sentence(s) that is/are correct in terms of grammar and usage. Then, choose the most appropriate option.

- a. The Battle of Hastings is one of the most famous event of the Norman Conquest,
- b. but it was only the opening engagement in the invader's consolidation of power in England.
- c. For several years afterwards, the country was riven with internal conflict as the Normans fought to extend their rule,
- d. Climaxing in a notorious campaign known today as the 'Harrying of the North'.
- e. The Harrying, which took place over the winter of 1069–70, saw William's knights lay waste to Yorkshire and neighbouring shires.

- ☐ a) Only e
- ☐ b) b, d and e

☒ c) d and e (Correct Answer - ✓)

- ☐ d) Only c

Solution:

In a, the word "event" should be in the plural because the reference is to one among many events. Hence, the correction is "...one of the most famous events....". In b, the apostrophe in the word "invaders" should be after the "s" because the reference, here, is to several invaders. In c, the word "riven" should be followed by the preposition "by". Only d and e are grammatically correct. Choice (C)

Directions for questions 1 to 8: In each question, there are five sentences or parts of sentences that form a paragraph. Identify the sentence(s) or part(s) of sentence(s) that is/are correct in terms of grammar and usage. Then, choose the most appropriate option.

- a. Harvest is just months away and the paddy fields in and around Naxalbari gleam emerald in the sunlight.
- b. It is, in fact an unusually green area surrounded with sprawling tea gardens and shaded by dozens of large, old trees.
- c. The site of the peasant uprising in 1967 that famously developed into the widespread Naxalite movement is just another quite Indian village today.
- d. Located in the Terrai region of West Bengal, at the foothills of Himalayas
- e. it is bordered by Nepal on the west just across the river Mechi.

☐ a) a and e (Correct Answer - ✓)

- ☐ b) a, c and d
- ☐ c) a, b and d
- ☐ d) a, b and e

Solution:

In b, the word "surrounded" should be followed by the preposition "by" and not "with". In c, the use of the adverb "quite" does not make sense. The adjective "quiet" is most appropriate here. In d, the word "Himalayas" should be preceded by the definite article "the" because the Himalayas refer to a group of mountains. Only a and e are grammatically consistent.
Choice (A)

Directions for questions 1 to 8: In each question, there are five sentences or parts of sentences that form a paragraph. Identify the sentence(s) or part(s) of sentence(s) that is/are correct in terms of grammar and usage. Then, choose the most appropriate option.

- a. Along the western bank of the Sumida river, Asakusa, a popular tourist area in Tokyo, is redolent of Japanese woodblock prints from the Edo era.
- b. The large, 7th century Sen so-ji temple and rows of traditional shops selling kimonos and handicrafts, make it an old-world hold out in what can feel like a relentlessly modern city.
- c. Amidst the quintessentially Japanese plum blossom trees and antic shops, it is jolting therefore,
- d. to stumble on Matsuchiyama Shoden, a Ganesha temple located on slightly elevated ground by the river.
- e. But given the Hindu roots of so many deities in the Japanese Buddhist pantheon, it is not surprising entirely.

☐ a) a, b and c

☒ b) a and b (Correct Answer - ✓)

☐ c) b and d

☐ d) b, c and d

Solution:

In c, the word 'antic' which means a playful trick or prank, does not make sense. 'Antique', a work of art or a decorative object created or produced in a former period, is apt in the given context. In d, the word "stumble" should be followed by the preposition "upon" and not "on". In e, the positioning of the adverb "entirely" is incorrect. The correction is "....it is not entirely surprising".
Choice (B)

Directions for questions 1 to 8: In each question, there are five sentences or parts of sentences that form a paragraph. Identify the sentence(s) or part(s) of sentence(s) that is/are correct in terms of grammar and usage. Then, choose the most appropriate option.

- a. The history of computers is one of increasing intimacy.
- b. At first users rented time on mainframe machines they did not own.
- c. Next came the “personal computer”.
- d. These days smart-phones go everywhere in their owners' pocket,
- e. serving as everything from a dairy to a camera to a voice-activated personal assistant.

☐ a) d and e

☐ b) c and d

☒ c) a, b and c (Correct Answer - ✓)

☐ d) b and d

Solution:

In d, the word “pocket” should be in the plural because the reference is to several smart-phones and several owners. In e, the word “dairy”, meaning milk or milk products, does not make sense in the given context. “Diary” is the appropriate word to be used here. Only a, b and c are grammatically correct. Choice (C)

Directions for questions 9 to 16: Each question consists of five sentences on a topic. Some sentences are grammatically incorrect or inappropriate. Select the option that indicates the grammatically correct and appropriate sentence(s).

- a. Flanders can be described as a mishmash of modern, romantic, fashionable and old-world charm.
 - b. Flanders is a lively cluster of cities which include Antwerp, Brussels, Ghent, Leuven and Mechelen.
 - c. The Flemish cities of the medieval times are the most important cities of Flanders still.
 - d. The rich history is revealed through Flemish art and medieval architecture.
 - e. Foodies can gorge on local specialities like moules, waffles and chocolates.
- ☐ a) a, c and e
- ☒ b) a, d and e (Correct Answer - ✓)
- ☐ c) b and e
- ☐ d) c, d and e

Solution:

In statement b, the verb "include" does not agree with its corresponding subject "cluster", which is a singular noun. Hence, the correction is "Flanders is a lively cluster of cities which includes...". In c, the positioning of the adverb "still" is incorrect. The sentence should be corrected as "The Flemish cities of the medieval times are still the most important cities....". Statements a, d and e are grammatically correct.

Choice (B)

Directions for questions 9 to 16: Each question consists of five sentences on a topic. Some sentences are grammatically incorrect or inappropriate. Select the option that indicates the grammatically correct and appropriate sentence(s).

- a. Cubans, like citizens of most countries in the digital age, are familiar with app stores but theirs have actual doors, windows and counters.
- b. Los Doctores del Cellular, a mobile phone repair shop a few blocks away from Havana's Malecon seaside promenade, is one example.
- c. Inside, a super Mario effigy, kitted out with lab coat and stethoscope, keep vigil while technicians transfer apps to customers' smartphones via USB cables attached to the shop's computers.
- d. Although the United States' embargo on Cuba makes it hard to buy apps and other services online, but Cubans are quickly picking up on app culture.
- e. The brick and mortar app store is an ingenious Cuban response to digital deprivation.

☐ a) c, d and e

☐ b) a and b

☐ c) b and d

☐ d) a, b and e

(Correct Answer - ✓)

Solution:

Statement c is erroneous because the verb "keep" does not agree with the word "effigy", which is the subject here. The correction is "Inside a super Mario effigy.....keeps vigil...". In d, the use of "but" in the second part of the sentence is erroneous. As the sentence already begins with "although", the use of "but" makes it redundant and grammatically incorrect. Statements a, b and e are correct in terms of grammar and usage.

Choice (D)

Directions for questions 9 to 16: Each question consists of five sentences on a topic. Some sentences are grammatically incorrect or inappropriate. Select the option that indicates the grammatically correct and appropriate sentence(s).

- a. We are in Shamsky Reserve, just 60 miles from Kyrgyzstan's capital city of Bishkek.
- b. Around us are rolling green pastures flanked with jagged snow-draped mountains.
- c. A river gushes by and the chorus of bird calls make a volunteer from Spain and an ornithologist from Switzerland whip out their camera and binoculars every few minutes.
- d. An old hunting lodge, functions as a base for the field staff in an area where there are a few humans for miles around.
- e. Shamsky is resplendent with wildlife, but very little is known about it even today.

- ☐ a) a, c and e
- ☐ b) b, c and d
- ☐ c) b and c

☐ d) a and e (Correct Answer - ✓)

Solution:

In statement b, the word "flanked" should be followed by the preposition "by" and not "with". In statement c, there is a subject verb agreement error. Here, the verb "make" does not agree with the singular subject "chorus". The correction is "...and the chorus of bird calls makes a volunteer...". In d, the expression "a few" does not make sense. It is evident from the sentence that there are almost no trace of humans in the vicinity of the old hunting lodge. This meaning is conveyed only using the expression "few", which means none, while the expression "few" means some. Hence only statements a and e are grammatically correct.
Choice (D)

Directions for questions 9 to 16: Each question consists of five sentences on a topic. Some sentences are grammatically incorrect or inappropriate. Select the option that indicates the grammatically correct and appropriate sentence(s).

- a. The Indus society, fed by crops watered by the great river and its many tributaries flowing from the Himalayas, was remarkably productive and sophisticated in many ways.
- b. The Indus dwellers constructed ocean-going merchant ships that sailed so far as the Persian Gulf and the river-based cities of Mesopotamia.
- c. Mesopotamian cuneiform inscriptions refer to the Indus region by the name Meluhha, the precise meaning of which is unknown.
- d. The Indus cities' advanced drainage and sanitation was two millennia ahead of those of the Roman Empire.
- e. Their well-planned streets, generally laid out in the cardinal directions, put to shame all but the town planning of the 20th century.

☒ a) a, c and e (Correct Answer - ✓)

☐ b) a, c and d

☐ c) b and d

☐ d) Only e

Solution:

In statement b, "as...as" is the correct conjunction to be used. The correction is ".....merchant ships that sailed as far as...". In d, "those" should be replaced by "that" because the subject, here, is singular – the drainage and sanitation system of the Indus civilization. Therefore, the correction is "...ahead of that of the Roman empire". Statements a, c and e are grammatically correct. Choice (A)

Directions for questions 9 to 16: Each question consists of five sentences on a topic. Some sentences are grammatically incorrect or inappropriate. Select the option that indicates the grammatically correct and appropriate sentence(s).

- a. Heroines and striking female figures are not new in Vietnam — they have played an integral role in Vietnamese history for millennia.
- b. In the 1st century A.D., the Trung sisters, often called Vietnam's earliest national patriots, led a three-year rebellion over the Chinese Han dynasty, which ruled their country.
- c. The female legacy persists in the modern era; in all of Vietnam's recent conflicts, women had been crucial.
- d. They fought alongside men and carried heavy loads down the Ho Chi Minh Trail.
- e. Yet, women warriors, so essential to Vietnam's long history and so important in the most photographed war in history, have remained invisible.

☐ a) b and c

☐ b) a and d

☐ c) d and e

☐ d) a, d and e (Correct Answer - ✓)

Solution:

Statements b and c are erroneous. In b, the word rebellion should be followed by the preposition "against" and not "over". A war (or a rebellion) is waged against someone (or something) and not "over" someone (or something). In c, the use of the past perfect tense "had been" is incorrect. As the reference is to a past action whose effect is still relevant to the present day, the present perfect tense is appropriate here. Therefore, the correction is "...women have been crucial". Statements a, d and e are grammatically correct.

Choice (D)

Directions for questions 9 to 16: Each question consists of five sentences on a topic. Some sentences are grammatically incorrect or inappropriate. Select the option that indicates the grammatically correct and appropriate sentence(s).

- a. Canadians rallied across Fort McMurray, the western city ravaged by a forest fire this month.
- b. They have sent food, clothing and messages of support to the 90,000 people who fled from their homes.
- c. The Red Cross collected C$54m in a matter of days.
- d. Justin Trudeau, Canada's Prime Minister, promised federal help.
- e. But the disaster has also exposed divisions between oil-producing Alberta, where more than 220,000 hectares were engulfed by fire, and the rest of Canada.

☐ a) a and b

☐ b) c and d

☒ c) c, d and e (Correct Answer - ✓)

☐ d) Only e

Solution:

In a, the word "rallied" should be followed by "around" and not "across". To rally around somebody is to work together in order to help somebody who is in a difficult or unpleasant situation. In b, the use of the preposition "from" after the word "fled" is incorrect. "...fled their homes..." is the correction. Statements c, d and e are grammatically consistent.
Choice (C)

Directions for questions 9 to 16: Each question consists of five sentences on a topic. Some sentences are grammatically incorrect or inappropriate. Select the option that indicates the grammatically correct and appropriate sentence(s).

- a. The toll of malaria is hard to comprehend.
- b. In Africa, parts of Middle East, southern Asia and Melanesia, humans have been killed by the parasite, which is transmitted by mosquitoes, for thousands of years.
- c. Its bloody traces are visible on the human genome itself, in the form of mutations that allow some people to survive infection.
- d. Yet despite much recent progress, malaria still kills more than 400,000 people a year.
- e. So it was a big step when the first vaccine for malaria was licensed last year.

- ☐ a) b and e
- ☐ b) b and d
- ☐ c) a, b and c

☐ d) a, c and d (Correct Answer - ✓)

Solution:

In b, the expression "Middle East" should be preceded by the definite article "the" because "Middle East" refers to a group of countries. In e, the word "vaccine" should be followed by the preposition "against" and not "on". Only a, c and d are correct statements.
Choice (D)

Directions for questions 9 to 16: Each question consists of five sentences on a topic. Some sentences are grammatically incorrect or inappropriate. Select the option that indicates the grammatically correct and appropriate sentence(s).

- a. Boeing's factory at Everett, near Seattle, is the largest building in the world, as befits the world's biggest pacemaker.
- b. From within its cavernous walls a new passenger jet emerges every working day.
- c. After an empty fuselage enters at one end of the factory, it can take as little as a month for some models to emerge as a working aircraft at the other end.
- d. Still. Boeing's lead in the field of commercial airliners, which looked almost unassailable a decade ago, is in threat from airbus.
- e. Since 2012 the European firm has won more orders than Boeing, and may outpace it eventually in annual derivatives.

☐ a) c and d

☐ b) c, d and e

☐ c) a, b and c (Correct Answer - ✓)

☐ d) d and e

Solution:

In statement d, the expression "in threat" does not make sense. The correction is "under threat". In e, the positioning of the adverb "eventually" is incorrect. The adverb should be placed before the verb which it modifies. Therefore, the correction is "...and may eventually outpace it in annual derivatives". Only a, b and c are free from errors.
Choice (C)

Directions for questions 17 to 20: Identify the incorrect sentence or sentences.

- a. According to doctors, as many as one in four urban Indians suffer from BP or hypertension.
- b. High BP is usually managed with drugs and diet.
- c. It remains a big killer, because it has been proved to cause cardio-vascular problems and aggravate other existing conditions like diabetes and stress.
- d. Those who take drugs to reduce BP end up with adverse side effects ranging from fatigue and cough.

☐ a) Only a

☐ b) a and c

☒ c) a and d (Correct Answer - ✓)

☐ d) b and d

Solution:

In statement a, the correction is "...one in four Indians suffers from...." as the reference is to the one Indian and not to the four Indians. In d, the use of the conjunction "and" to express a range is incorrect. The preposition "to" should be used in its place in order to make the sentence grammatically correct.
Choice (C)

Directions for questions 17 to 20: Identify the incorrect sentence or sentences.

- a. The 53.5km Milford Track on New Zealand's mountainous South island is regarded as one of the finest walking trail in the world.
- b. It's a four-days adventure that leads from Lake Te Anau up through forests to Mackinnon Pass.
- c. You can make a side-trip to the country's highest waterfall, Sutherland Falls, then follow a wilderness river north to the edge of the spectacular estuary called Milford Sound.
- d. The number of daily walkers allowed on the magnificent trail are limited from late October to April.

☐ a) c and d

☐ b) Only c

☐ c) b and d

☐ d) a, b and d (Correct Answer - ✓)

Solution:

In a, the word "trail" should be in the plural. The correction is "...one of the finest walking trails in the world". In b, the expression "four days adventure" is wrong. The correction is "four-day adventure". In d, the verb "are" does not agree with "number" which is singular. The correction is "The number of daily walkers...is limited". Therefore, only statement c is free of errors. Choice (D)

Directions for questions 17 to 20: Identify the incorrect sentence or sentences.

- a. Two long-nosed Vautour planes took off from Ramat David airfield in northern Israel on the morning of June 5th, 1967.
- b. Each was carrying a French-made electronic system that would decide the fate of the impending clash between Arabs and Jews.
- c. The aircrafts flew south, towards Egypt, and soared upwards when they reached Port Said.
- d. Travelling up and down the Suez Canal, the electronic devices installed in the Vautours delivered a sustained signal that had a dramatic effect.

☐ a) Only d

☐ b) a and c (Correct Answer - ✓)

☐ c) Only b

☐ d) b and d

Solution:

In statement a the expression "take off" does not make sense. The phrasal verb "take off", meaning to leave the ground and begin to fly, is appropriate in the given sentence. In c, the word "aircrafts" is incorrect. The word has the same spelling both in the singular and plural, hence "aircraft" is the correct word to be used here. Statements b and d are grammatically correct. Choice (B)

Directions for questions 17 to 20: Identify the incorrect sentence or sentences.

- a. Poor and small, Portugal was at the edge of late medieval Europe.
- b. But its seafarers created the age of 'globalisation', which continues to this day.
- c. In the dying years of the 15th century Portugal surprised the world.
- d. Vasco de Gama's landfall on the Indian Coast on May 1498 was so unexpected that it strained credibility.

- ☐ a) Only d
- ☐ b) c and d
- ☐ c) Only c
- ☐ d) b and d

Solution:

Only statement d is erroneous. Here, the use of the preposition "on" in the latter part of the sentence is incorrect. If the reference is to a period of time "in" should be used. For eg. In summer, in March etc and if the reference is to a particular day and date, "on" should be used. Choice (A)
