Directions for questions 11 to 14: In each question, there are five sentences or parts of sentences that form a paragraph. Identify the sentence(s) or part(s) of sentence(s) that is/are correct in terms of grammar and usage. Then, choose the most appropriate option.

- a. William & Mary left Liverpool for New Orleans on March 24th, 1853 with 208 Scottish, Irish, English and Dutch passengers on board.
- b. This was the first time the ship had taken people instead of cargo across the Atlantic and the captain and crew,
- c. despite their initial charm towards potential customers were completely out of their depth.
- d. Emigrants were exceptionally vulnerable people, often considered to be worth less than livestock by the people transporting them.
- e. The poverty that so often drove them to leave home also rendered them powerless when faced with mistreatment.

- ☐ a) b and d
- ☐ b) b, c and d

☒ c) b, d and e (Correct Answer - ✓)

- ☐ d) Only a

Solution:

It can be understood from the sentence that the reference is to a ship, hence the name of the ship should be preceded by the definite article. Therefore the correction in a is "The William and Mary...". The expression "...despite their initial charm with potential customers..." is a parenthetical expression which conveys additional information and hence it should be preceded and followed by a comma. Hence a comma should be inserted after the word "customers" in c. Only b, d and e are free of errors.

Choice (C)

Directions for questions 11 to 14: In each question, there are five sentences or parts of sentences that form a paragraph. Identify the sentence(s) or part(s) of sentence(s) that is/are correct in terms of grammar and usage. Then, choose the most appropriate option.

- a. Standing on the rocks of Kourou, looking out over the muddy red-brown waters that lap the shores of Guyane, or French Guiana,
- b. it is just about possible to make out the contours of three islands: Île Saint-Joseph, Île Royale and Île du Diable.
- c. The imperial history of this small archipelago began when Guyane became an outpost of the French empire in the 1760's and sick colonists sought refuge in the more salubrious climes of what they called the Îles du Salut: the Salvation Islands.
- d. After 1852, Guyane grew famous and eventually notorious as a place of convict transportation.
- e. As the penal colony expanded, its offshore islands became part of a constellation of convict locations scattered over its coast and rivers.

☐ a) a, b and e

☐ b) a, b and d (Correct Answer - ✓)

☐ c) b, c and d

☐ d) b, c and e

Solution:

In c, the use of the apostrophe, which denotes possession, along with the figure 1760s is incorrect. In e, the use of the preposition "over" after the word "scattered" is incorrect. Habitations can be set up along coasts and rivers and not over them. Hence c and e are erroneous and a, b and d are grammatically correct. Choice (B)

Directions for questions 11 to 14: In each question, there are five sentences or parts of sentences that form a paragraph. Identify the sentence(s) or part(s) of sentence(s) that is/are correct in terms of grammar and usage. Then, choose the most appropriate option.

d. nor Asoka, the great, Buddhist-oriented emperor who ruled most of the subcontinent in the third century, was dimly even aware of the Indus civilisation.

e. Indeed, the Indus civilisation remained altogether invisible until the 1920s.

☐ a) a, b, c and e

☐ b) a, c and d

☐ c) a, c and e

☐ d) b, c and e (Correct Answer - ✓)

Solution:

In a, the Indus civilisation is being compared with the civilisations of Mesopotamia and Egypt, hence the adjective "that" should be replaced with "those". In d, the positioning of the adverb is incorrect. The correction is "...was even dimly aware..". Only b, c and e are grammatically consistent.
Choice (D)

Directions for questions 11 to 14: In each question, there are five sentences or parts of sentences that form a paragraph. Identify the sentence(s) or part(s) of sentence(s) that is/are correct in terms of grammar and usage. Then, choose the most appropriate option.

- a. Terrorism has changed in recent years dramatically.
 - b. Attacks by groups with defined chains of command have become rare, as the prevalence of terrorist networks, autonomous cells,
 - c. and, in rare cases, individuals, has grown.
 - d. This evolution has prompted a search for a new vocabulary, as it should.
 - e. The label that seems to have been decided is "lone wolves", they are, we have been repeatedly told, "Terror enemy No 1".
- ☐ a) Only a
- ☐ b) b and c
- ☒ c) c and d (Correct Answer - ✓)
- ☐ d) a, d and e

Solution:

In a, the positioning of the adverb "dramatically" is incorrect. The correction is "Terrorism has changed dramatically in recent years". In b, the comparative adjective "rarer" should be used in place of the positive adjective "rare" because, here, a comparison is made between how terrorism was in the past and how it has changed in recent years. In e, the word "decided" should be followed by the preposition "on". To decide on or upon something is to choose something from a number of possibilities. Only c and d are grammatically correct.
Choice (C)

Directions for questions 15 to 18: Identify the correct sentence or sentences:

- a. Practicing meditation every day is the most effective way to use “Spiritual Intelligence”.

- c. It is highly conducive for creative thinking!
- d. This ability made him a creative genius and his ideas revolutionised the entire world.
- e. When he returned to India after his incessant work abroad he pined for solitude.

☐ a) a, c and e

☒ b) a, b and d (Correct Answer - ✓)

☐ c) c and e

☐ d) b and d

Solution:

Option B is the correct option because the three sentences a, b and d are grammatically correct. In sentence c the exclamation mark at the end of the sentence should be replaced by a full stop because an exclamation mark is used only when expressing a strong emotion. Since this sentence does not express any form of strong emotion, the exclamation mark has been used inappropriately.

In sentence e there should be a comma after the word abroad to distinguish between two clauses.
Choice (B)

Directions for questions 15 to 18: Identify the correct sentence or sentences:

- a. Innovation matrix is when the success of a product is plotted against market response due to customer needs fulfilled.
- b. Most innovations occur as an inclement modification to the existing products / processes wherein the market response and newness of process are incremental.
- c. Radical innovations are a great hit at the marketplace, due to their ability to meet customer exceptions.
- d. Patanjali Yoga aphorisms 9, 10 and 12, throw light on three different types of concentration.
- e. How are we to know that the mind has become concentrated?

- ☐ a) b, c and d
- ☐ b) a and e
- ☐ c) a, d and e
- ☐ d) c and d

Solution:

Option C is the correct option because a, d and e are grammatically correct sentences. In sentence b the word "inclement" is irrelevant because it means "unpleasantly cold or wet weather" and so should be replaced by "incremental" which means "relating to or denoting an increase or addition" and is relevant to the context of the sentence. In sentence c there should be no comma after the word "marketplace" because it is of no relevance.

Choice (C)

Directions for questions 15 to 18: Identify the correct sentence or sentences:

- a. The highest type of concentration is one in which similar impressions succeeded one another in a stream.
- b. Generating creative ideas is achieved by applying the fundamental question, "why".
- c. The mind that lived in the present is more capable of generating great ideas
- d. He used to play the violin when he was wrestling with tough problems.
- e. Sitting in open spaces and getting immersed in deep thought is very conducive to generating creative ideas.

- ☐ a) d and e
- ☐ b) a, d and e
- ☐ c) a, b and c
- ☐ d) a and c

Solution:

Option A is the correct option because sentences d and e are grammatically correct sentences.

In sentence a the word "succeeded" should be replaced by the word "succeed" because it is a present tense sentence and "succeeded" is a past tense word. Hence, the present tense verb "succeed" is the relevant word to be used in this sentence.

In sentence b the word "why" should begin with a capital letter and should have a question mark after it just before the closed inverted commas. This is because the first letter of any sentence/word quoted in full should be upper case, and should usually be preceded by a comma or a colon. A question mark should be placed after the word "why" because in this sentence it is a word that indicates a question.

In sentence c, the word "lived" which is a past tense word, should be replaced by the word "lives" which is a present tense word and would be correct to use because the sentence is in the present tense. Also a full stop should be used after the word "ideas" to indicate the end of the sentence.

Choice (A)
